

ENDLER ARCHITECTURE AND COLLABORATION

TWENTY YEARS IN CORPORATE TO HELPING OTHERS:
THE JOURNEY

Pat Endler worked as an architect at Borton-Lawson for twenty years, working his way up to two vice president positions.

The firm has its perks, but there comes a time when priorities diverge and, outside the large corporate environment, local opportunities come calling.

PRESS START

MISSION

ENGAGE WITH NORTHEAST PA COMMUNITY PROJECTS AND COLLABORATE WITH OTHER INDEPENDENT ARCHITECTS AND ENGINEERS.

Collaborate with Borton-Lawson and others on a non-competitive basis

Greater involvement in community organisations like the Chamber and United Way

Provide expertise and continuing education to the AIA community

Stay tuned for coworking and other opportunities to cultivate local community

Something had to give when architects and engineers learn and apply a lifetime's worth of expert and arcane knowledge. Endler can help keep the project moving, bridge the gaps and build relationships.